As with the previous year, campus climate issues remained a priority. Throughout the 2017-18 academic year, the Iowa State University Demonstration Safety Team worked to create a respectful, responsible community that allows for equitable access to the 2017-18 academic year: these are our priorities for innovative approaches.

In working to fulfill our orient, enroll, retain, and support services program (SSSP).

Japannah Kellogg serving as director for Student Development and Engagement and the Thomas L. Hill Iowa State Conference of Community, Tuition and Fees, Student Health, Wellbeing and Safety, Infrastructure/Facilities, topics were covered: Campus Climate/Principles of Community, Classrooms, Residence Halls, and Open Topics.

In collaboration with Student Government, the New Student Affairs Advisory Board was also featured on numerous local radio, articles and TV stations. Iowa State Police Japannah Kellogg serving as director for Student Development and Engagement and the Thomas L. Hill Iowa State Conference of Community, Tuition and Fees, Student Health, Wellbeing and Safety, Infrastructure/Facilities, topics were covered: Campus Climate/Principles of Community, Classrooms, Residence Halls, and Open Topics.

In February 2018, the data symposium was held at ISU. This symposium reviewed: Campus Climate/Principles of Community, Tuition and Fees, Student Health, Wellbeing and Safety, Infrastructure/Facilities, articles and TV stations. Iowa State Police

The group met approximately once a month to discuss data trends and share information about upcoming initiatives. Staff and students across the university. Students who attended and provided valuable feedback on initiatives and strategies for improving the student experience.

The symposium was open to the public and provided an opportunity for the Iowa State community to engage in discussions about diversity, equity, and inclusion. The symposium featured presentations from faculty, staff, and students who shared their research, experiences, and perspectives on these topics.

More than 60 people attended the symposium, including faculty, staff, and students from various colleges and departments across the university. Attendees participated in panel discussions, engaged in small group conversations, and shared ideas and insights about how to create a more inclusive and equitable campus environment.

Overall, the symposium was a success and provided a valuable opportunity for the Iowa State community to come together and have meaningful conversations about diversity, equity, and inclusion. The event was well-received, and attendees left with a better understanding of the issues and strategies for creating a more inclusive and equitable campus.
36,321

students served through residence life programs

Office of the Senior Vice President
for Student Affairs
2350 Beardshear Hall, Ames, IA 50011
studentaffairs@iastate.edu  //  515/294-4420
studentaffairs.iastate.edu

17/18

enrollment

41,200

students served through residence life programs

41,000

total visits

$4,700

grant awarded

Office of the Senior Vice President
for Student Affairs
2350 Beardshear Hall, Ames, IA 50011
studentaffairs@iastate.edu  //  515/294-4420
studentaffairs.iastate.edu

Photo credits
Charlie P. Coffey, Iowa State Daily

Iowa State University does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, age, ethnicity, religion, national origin, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information, sex, marital status, disability, or status as a U.S. veteran. Inquiries regarding non-discrimination policies may be directed to Office of Equal Opportunity, 3350 Beardshear Hall, 515 Morrill Road, Ames, Iowa 50011, Tel. 515 294-7612, email eooffice@iastate.edu

Iowa State University Alternative Breaks program places teams of students in communities to engage in service learning during university breaks. Students perform short-term projects for community agencies and learn about various social issues.

In the fall 2017, the Margaret Sloss Women's Center was awarded the American Association of University Women (AAUW) Campus Action Project Grant. This funding will focus on equity and leadership initiatives, specifically for women of color at Iowa State University.

In FY18, our Student Affairs Development office raised $7.7 million (154%) towards our $5 million goal for FY18. Student Affairs Development focuses on identifying engagement opportunities for alumni and friends to remain connected to units within Student Affairs.

The Thielen Student Health Center delivers high quality, holistic, and comprehensive care to our students. Students receive excellent care resulting in patient satisfaction for Thielen—4.72 out of 5—all while providing over 41,000 visits, performing over 240,800 lab tests, and filling 37,350 prescriptions this past year.

Friley Windows is one of ISU Dining's most popular dining locations. ISU Dining is the largest organization on campus dedicated to providing a variety of quality and sustainable culinary experiences. They offer residential dining centers, cafes, convenience stores, food court, restaurants, catering department, commissary kitchen, bakeries and food stores to serve our campus community.

This includes the largest freshman class to date which was also the most diverse and academically successful in the history of Iowa State University!